HTTP Proxy

Within this section, the total HTTP traffic is split into 'Cached traffic' and 'Internet traffic'. The cached traffic is the set of object requests (HTML pages, images, ...) that already are in the cache, so they could be served directly to the client reducing latency and traffic; Internet traffic are requests which should be retrieved from the Internet.

Web traffic

The total traffic going through the HTTP proxy and the amount of network traffic saved by the HTTP cache.
