

Zentyal Wins Prestigious 2013 Bully Award

- The Spanish company, honoured as a leading European TMT-company

Madrid (Spain), November 12, 2013

Zentyal, developer of easy IT solutions for small business, has received the coveted 2013 Bully Award, honouring Europe's leading technology, media and telecommunications (TMT) companies. Annually, the Bully Awards reward those leading European companies that stand out in terms of innovation in the technology, media and telecommunications businesses. This year, The Bully Awards ceremony was held during the White Bull Summits, that took place in Barcelona last October.

A total of 60 European companies were named as finalists for the 2013 Bully Award, and the deserving winners were selected from a pool of entries that included hundreds of nominated European TMT companies.

The winners fall into three categories:

- Yearlings: firms that seek or have received angel/seed rounds or equivalent; classic startups.
- Young Bulls: firms that seek or have received Series A financing; early stage companies.
- Longhorns: post Series A firms; growth stage companies.

"The Bully Award winners were selected for innovation and values of excellence in the TMT sector. They have been recognized as leaders in their fields, with a bright business proposition and meaningful market strategies, driven by a rich understanding of customer needs and technological solutions," said Farley Duvall, co-founder of White Bull Summits.

"We're honoured to be named a 2013 Bully Award winner, and to be recognized as one of the leading TMT companies in Europe", commented Ignacio Correias, CEO at Zentyal. "This award reinforces Zentyal's compromise of becoming the native replacement to Microsoft Exchange, and it is a privilege to share this accolade with our staff, clients and users".
